

tharles would be able to reach Washington the first part of August, if it was deemed desirable for them to be here by that time. The personnel of the mission has not yet been announced. When the President returned to the executive offices, after receiving Mr. Takahira, he found Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, awaiting him. The information brought by the minister was communicated to the ambassador, who is calling his government to-night to find out when the Russian mission will arrive. When this is known, it will be possible to decide upon a date for the conference. The general belief is that it will convene about the middle of August. As has been reiterated in these dispatches, Japan will not ask for an armistice, insisting that the initiative must come from Russia.

Practically no other new developments were observable to-day in the negotiations for peace between Russia and Japan. President Roosevelt for a day or two has been deeply engrossed in other matters and, while he has not for a moment lost sight of the arrangements for bringing together the Far Eastern belligerents, he has realized fully that the next move in the great game of diplomacy now being played was with the contending nations themselves. That move is the selection of the envoys to represent them at the Washington conference.

Both Minister Takahira, of Japan, and Ambassador Cassini, of Russia, called on the President this afternoon. Neither would discuss his interview with the President. It is known, however, that they were not of great importance. Each of the diplomatics presented to the President official advice from his government expressive of the satisfaction felt at both St. Petersburg and Tokyo over the selection of Washington as the seat of the peace conference. Whether the conference will actually sit in Washington or not, has not been determined, as that is a detail which will be left to the envoys themselves by their respective governments. It is said that no decision would be reached on that point until the conference meet here and organize. If the weather in Washington at that time should be unfavorable to continuing sittings in this city, it will be within the authority of the plenipotentiaries to adjourn to some other city.

During the past few days the President has received as many as a hundred letters suggesting various cities in the country as desirable places for holding the conference. It can be said that the President will not permit himself to be drawn into the discussion of this subject, and the government will not attempt to interfere in any way with the choice of the conference of a place of holding their conferences. It is regarded as probable that this city will be, at least, the scene of the beginning and the ending of the conference, although the intervening sessions may be held elsewhere. It will be known in diplomatic history, therefore, as already stated, as the Washington conference, and the convention, if one be formulated, will be the treaty of Washington.

AMERICANS ORDERED OUT OF PORT ARTHUR

Action of Japanese Causes Flurry in Washington—Has Diplomats Guessing.

(By Associated Press.)
CHE FOY, June 19.—American and European news all in Port Arthur have been notified by the Japanese authorities to depart and remove their merchandise. Many of the firms are now arranging to charter steamers for that purpose.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 19.—Dispatches from the Far East indicating that Japan has ordered American and European shopkeepers from Port Arthur have created something of a flurry here. Beyond the mere statement that the act was done, no information can be had. It is said here that it cannot be imagined upon what grounds foreign merchants of friendly powers can be thus summarily dealt with, and that it will likely be the subject of considerable diplomatic correspondence.

In this connection, it may be said that there are some who see an interested motive in the Washington attitude for peace. It is known that Washington has recently been showing an inclination to interfere in Chinese internal laws more liberally. This grows out of the determination of the Chinese people to boycott American trade unless some relief be given. It is said that Japan will insist on the integrity of China as one of the conditions of peace. It will naturally follow that China will yield much in the way of favors to the Japanese. With Japanese friendship growing out of the peace proposals from Washington, it is logical to conclude that through Japan America may have more of an open door in China than she has ever had before.

In other words, there are those who believe it was as much of a stroke of policy as an indiscretion in the President to move for peace. It meant prob-

WALLACE COMING HOME TO RESIGN AS CANAL ENGINEER

Panama Matters Not Yet Running Smoothly, According to New Rumors.

(By Associated Press.)

COLON, June 19.—It was publicly announced that John F. Wallace, chief engineer of the canal zone, who sailed for the United States June 10th, was going home by order of Secretary Taft for the purpose of consultation on important matters prior to the sailing of the Secretary for the Philippines, and that he was not likely to return to the isthmus until his annual report had been written and he had secured a short rest, which he was unable to take on his last trip, owing to pressure of business. Since the departure of Mr. Wallace, however, it has been said in influential circles that he does not intend to return to the isthmus to resume his position of chief engineer, but that he has gone home to confer with Secretary Taft on the subject of his resignation.

ably the integrity of China; at any rate, it meant a vast deal to China and Japan, and it naturally follows that concessions might be expected, which would prove of vast value to Americans.

JAPAN'S TERMS WILL BE LIBERAL, HE SAYS

(By Associated Press.)

ST. PETERSBURG, June 20.—A. M.—Japan's terms of peace, according to an interview had by a correspondent of the Moscow Vremya, with a member of the Japanese embassy at Vienna, will prove to be moderate, and will be based on the propositions made in the Japanese note on the eve of hostilities with the adoption of an indemnity covering the cost of the war. Japan will not insist on payment of claims, such as the cession of the island of Sakhalin, the disarmament of Vladivostok or the limitation of Russia's naval rights in the Pacific, but will insist on guarantees against the renewal of the war for half a century at least. The diplomat is quoted as saying that Japan desires to live on terms of friendship with Russia in the future, and is not disposed to make overhasty stipulations.

June 19.—Midnight.—The war party has by no means surrendered. On the contrary, backed by the military element, it is making a concerted effort to dislodge the Emperor from concluding peace. Even with the two armies already clenching, members of the war party are filling St. Petersburg and Petrograd with optimistic views and Lieutenant-General Linievich and his lieutenants are reinforcing their arguments with rosy reports of the strategic situation. Many Russian correspondents at the front, evidently inspired from St. Petersburg, are flooding their papers with dispatches in the same strain.

MAY ASK LEASE OF GAS WORKS

new plant by the city. If this be true the new structure will be somewhere up-town, and not in the lower section of the city.

The Light Committee last night decided to recommend to the Council that a twelve-inch instead of a ten-inch pipe be laid to carry the gas from the gas works to the new holder in the West End.

Should Be Cheaper.

From those who are intimate with the subject of gas in this city, it is learned that under improved conditions, for example, with ample storage capacity, which it is believed the new holder will give, the city may well afford to furnish gas to consumers at 75 cents instead of $1.00 per 1,000 feet. It is held, and apparently with much reason, that the gas department is a money maker, and that revenue derived from this source should be limited to providing a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds issued for the payment of the interest on the cost of the plant. If the works are put in thorough repair and the equipments are made modern, it is believed that all this can be done, and the price lowered at the same time in accordance with the figures given above.

DR. ALDERMAN TO HIGH SCHOOL

Virginian, and I have no doubt he will in years to come taunt me with the truth that I am not one.

President Alderman paid a high compliment to the High School, which, he said, held the strategic position between the schools below and the colleges and universities above. "I don't know exactly what you want here in Richmond, but whatever it is, I am with you. I want what you want."

"I am sure that the people and the authorities of this great city will not only build a great and noble High School, but will establish a splendid curriculum, than which there will be no greater in this vast country."

Tribute to the South.

It was, however, by his ringing tribute to the South and the Southern people that the speaker simply carried his audience to the wildest height of enthusiasm. He pictured the past and its state, who had given to this country the example and the patriotism that has made it so great and so secure that to-day it stands calmly serene without fear of any power, without the existence of any alarm. That old life, he said, was made up of all that had been the inspiration of the nation, romance, a divine sympathy, pride of race, reverence and the investment of womanhood with sacredness and charm. Home life, he said, had existed in all its delightful phases in the Southland, and the faces of good women of bygone days that looked down from the walls of the homes of the South told the story of the influence and guidance that had moulded the Southern gentleman.

His tribute to General Robert Edward Lee carried his hearers to wild applause. "I have said before, and I repeat it now," said Dr. Alderman, "that we of the South are the only people in all the world who still read Sir Walter Scott, fear God and vote the Democratic ticket."

He pictures the South as regaining its lost honors and taking once more its ancient place in the affairs of the nation. All over the country, he said, from Massachusetts to California, the people are looking toward the South, and the young man who is pure and upright is a marked man, who to-day can go out in the world and say, "I am from the South."

President Alderman was cheered to the echo as he concluded with a magnificent peroration. Again and again the audience and graduates cheered him as he walked to his seat in the state box, while a throng of distinguished people pressed to take his hand.

Delightful Programme.

The programme of the evening was as follows: Essay, "The New High School From a Graduate's Point of View," Branch Sutherland; Song, "Song of Vikings" (Fanning), High School Chorus; Recitation, "The Unknown Speaker," Ethelwyn Yennans; Song, "Lost Chord" (Kuliyann), High School Chorus; Oration, "Jefferson Davis," Bascom Rowlett; Song, "Liberty Bell" (Souza), High School Chorus; Recitation, "1862," Bessie Dudley; Song, "Be Glad, Lass and Lad" (Gumbert), High School Chorus; Address, Dr. E. A. Alderman; Musical Delivery of essays and dramas by Junior A. H. Capers, chairman City School Board.

Miss Sutherland's essay was excellent and hit a popular note with her audience. Her plan for a new High School building was a strong one and brought out hearty applause.

So pleased was the audience with the singing of the chorus, composed of very charming young girls, dressed in white, that they were cheered again and again. "Maryland, My Maryland" was one of their encore offerings, but the one that brought the audience to its feet was the overture, "Dixie."

Miss Yennans' recitation, "The Unknown Speaker," was deservedly applauded heartily. The young lady has remarkable histrionic ability and proved it by her clever encore recital, "Arrabella" and "Bally Ann."

Rowlett spoke on "Jefferson Davis." His voice was excellent and not less so was his delivery. Mr. Rowlett's oration was one of the hits of the evening.

Caught the Audience.

Little Miss Bessie Dudley's recitation, "1862," caught the audience, who gazed delightedly to the end. It would be denied and so the young lady recited "Lost Chord" in the same humorous and quaint manner that had first gained her popular favor. Miss Dudley is a youthful comedienne, who will be heard from.

After the band had played, Mr. James H. Capers made a neat speech, and a few pleasant looking boys came smiling to the front of the stage to receive their diplomas.

Mr. Capers, assisted by Mr. Walford and Mr. Thomas, delivered them, while the school junior, adorned with a huge white flower, led the applause, until his hands grew purple with excitement.
